FARMVILLE.

With the beginning of the new season the ladies of our churches are united in active church work. What would the churches do without them? I heard a brilliant woman in Washington some years ago advise her sisters all to quit the churches and leave the "fat Bishops" to care for themselves. But she was foolish. Christianity is woman's best friend, and women of sense know it.

Mrs. Graham, wife of the pastor of the Presbyterian church attended a missionary meeting of the West Harmon Presbetery recently and on her return made a most interesting report to the local society.

Not only our grown folks but our babies have been attending the exposition. Farmville has done her duty by the great show. Everybody ought to go as a rebuke to ex-chief Barr.

I am told that no more earnest work was ever done in the history of the Normal school. Teachers and scholars are moved by enthusiasm to do their best and make the session memorable.

The last of our summer visitors have left us and the winter contingent hasn't as yet sent on their advance guard. They will come in time as Farmville is good winter as well as summer resort.

I heard one of our farmers make this astonishing statement the other day. He made a crop of tobacco which brought him about $800, and it cost him $71 to sell it. This is altogether outrageous. His guano bill was $67. Who can wonder that they are asking for relief, and who dare say that they are not entitled to it? I heard another farmer complain however, of the cost of storing his tobacco in the warehouse of the association.

The millenium hasn't yet come. Some people predict its coming in the next ten years. Let us hope they are right and that it will come next year.

The Prince Edward Board of Supervisors are offering the poor house tract of land for sale. This is an unusually good farm, as public property it has been unprofitable—officials and politicians are some how failures when it comes to a fairs practical. A farmer who knows how to work well his own farm is a fair failure when he begins to work on public roads.

The Baptists are enlarging the lecture room of their church building. Farmville already has the best churches of any town of like size in the State, and as to her side walks, she is "out of sight."

The family of Capt. J. D. Allen have joined him in Lynchburg.

Councilmen who are interested in town franchises are being looked after and trouble may be just ahead. Sworn law makers ought not to be constant law breakers. In some sections of the State they are going for those who fail to make honest returns of their personal property, and this will create general sensations. Men who are strictly honest in their private dealings so often dodge the demands of the government. They must not think it to be wrong.

The Methodist and Baptist have been holding protracted meetings and both have been well attended. It has been some time since Farmville has been moved by a religious awakening and it is high time that our people were impressed with the fact that "religion is the chief concern of mortals here below." We sing that in our churches on Sunday and then rush to our stores and offices and warehouse on Monday although the things of this life were of any concern. Bank deposits absorb our energies and appreciation and the heavenly treasure commands only passing thoughts, should the Son of Man come suddenly, he would find the oil low in the lamps and our lights dimly burning. We recall the days of the venerable Dr. Rosser who used to stir us to our depths and when "Buck" Fuqua would now and then lead the music with that stentorian voice of his sounding from the gallery where the colored were gathered. There no longer attend the services of the white churches, not even the Sexton who cares for the church buildings. They no longer trust white preachers or white teachers and are utterly averse to white influence in general. The gulf is widening and who can foretell the future of the two races so closely associated and yet so widely separated. There must be an infinite wisdom in it all, just as there is in the separation of the "gulf stream" from the other waters of the ocean.

Many of our Episcopal friends have greatly enjoyed the services of the great convention of their church which for the first time in its history met in historic Richmond. The Bishop of London preaching on the capital square in the open air must have been an impressive service and must convince us that ancient and honorable churches are going out in the world to "compel them to come in." If Voltaire was still living he would have to confess that christianity had not lost its power and that the Bible is not yet obsolete.

That is a moving appeal which our growers of tobacco has made to the law makers of the nation and we await with interest what effects are to follow. If the farmers will only "get together" and stay together they can dictate rather than make piteous appeals.

A visitor walking our streets the other day, and who had not been here for a number of years was heard to say "Farmville has improved more than any town in the State," and he was right.

Fall shopping is now at full tide and Ned Ernest is all smiles. He loves new goods and loves to show them and above all to sell them, and it is a real pleasure to buy goods from such a salesman. If you don't know just what suits you he can tell you.

Mr and Mrs. C. C. Fleming, who were married in New York are now at home to their Farmville friends in their Farmville home.

Housekeepers are complaining that vegetables are getting to be scarce and that other table luxuries are still soaring higher. None of us fear a famine but this thing of high prices for food products has gotten to be serious.

The rains have made our fall grazing good and our cattle look full if they are not fat, and there is a big difference between a full steer and a fat one.

The basement offices of our court house are receiving much needed improvements and the wonder is that they have been so much neglected for so many years. There are among the best office rooms in the country. Our clerk's office is well nigh perfect in all its appointments and our newly appointed clerk looks immensely comfortable in charge. It is the very best county office in the gift of the people and it is not often that the incumbent is dislodged.

The "Knights of the grip" are in daily evidence on our streets and a more genial, cheerful, companionable body of mortals are not met with. I am told by many of them that Farmville is one of their best selling points and now that we have up-to-date hotels it is a luxury to visit us.

Our millinery stores are ablaze with pretty things and new bonnets with sweeping plumes and flowers are the subjects of animated conversation among our lady friends. Our local dealers enjoy wide spread reputation and ship goods to other sections and even to distant States. I congratulate myself that I do not have to buy a new bonnet and that the ounce hat suits me above all others.

The trade in ready made clothing has received a wonderful impetus in the last two decades. There was a time when we had our suits and shoes made to order, but not so now. They are fashioned into shape in the large factories and are sent to us ready for wear. This has meant the destruction of minor industries and has made possible the mighty and in many cases the monster corporations.

In sympathy with the spirit of the age, Washington is fast becoming the home of centralized power. Is a king in sight, a monarchy the success of democracy? Some one recently said "if we are to have a king, Roosevelt is a good beginning;" of this I have my doubts.

Major J. R. Martin is enjoying a holiday and is visiting friends and relatives in the South.

It takes more than a Mississippi steam boat to hold up under some people.

If there was room enough in the Pacific for Taft, there will be room enough for the fleet.

The man who invented "hokey-pokey" is dead, but the indigestion he invented will live on.

When Mr. Roosevelt gets to be an editor, proofreaders will be put among the "prohibited risks" by the life insurance companies.

Circuit Court was engaged with criminal cases the first three days of the session.

Johnson Cabell, a negro man was found guilty of felonious assault on the person of Lew Ellen Banks, and given seven years in the penitentiary. Paul Johnson was tried and acquitted of the charge of burning the barn of Alvin Smith. The grand jury found true bills as follows: Henry Taylor, charged with selling ardent spirits without license, four indictments. Garnett Jones indicted for felony; this man was out on bail and failing to appear his bond was forfeited. Charles Miles was indicted charged with burning the carriage house of M. C. Elcan and this case was set for trial at the special term of the court to be held here beginning on the 3rd Monday in November. The damage suit of James S. Jones et als vs. the Buckingham Slate Company was also set for trial at the special term. Strode and Flood appeared for the defendant company in this case and it goes without saying that this is an able team.

The sale of the real and personal property of the late S. B. Gibson is advertised and will doubtless take place before this is read.

No one will take it that I meant that the Commissioners of Revenue were not competent, by what I wrote last week, what I meant was that it was intended by the law makers that men should be appointed who not having been under obligations to the voters for their support would not be handicapped when a question of fixing the value of property was concerned.

Superintendent Eggleston did not come to deliver an address here on the 16th, as was expected. Congressman Lamb, of the Richmond district, Hon. H. D. Flood, Judge A. S. Hall and Capt. Camm Patterson each made political speeches and also did Mr. Courtney Franklin, the Republican nominee for the Senate.

Captain White was also here mixing with the peopls.

INTERESTING STORIES ABOUT HOME FOLKS

Our Correspondents relate the News of the County.

Evergreen.

Mrs. Matilda Jennings died at her home near Christiansburg, October 12th, at 2:30 a. m., of apoplexy, at the age of 64 years. She attended her church Wednesday night, and on her return complained of her head, Thursday morning about 6 o'clock she was taken speechless. Her children and several doctors were summoned, but all in vain. She never spoke again. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dabney Wooldridge, was born and reared in this county. She was married to Mr. B. F. Jennings in 1865, after which they moved to Montgomery county, where she had gained so many kind and loving friends. None knew her but to love her. The funeral services were held at her home by the pastor of the Christianeburg Baptist church and Mr. Lynch, of the Methodist church. The body was taken to the Christiansburg cemetery and laid to rest in the presence of a host of sympath zing friends and relatives. She was a faithful, christian, kind wife and loving mother, she leaves a husband, four sons, Ellis, Luther, Neal and Fred die, and four sisters, Mrs. J. L. Martin, of Montvale, Mrs Victoria Evans; Mrs. Anna Wooldridge and Rosa Godsey, of this county to mourn their loss, but their loss is her gain. The funeral was covered with beautiful flowers. May the Lord bless the lonely husband and dear boys, remember mother has gone on a little while before and is waiting for her boys to come to her. "Asleep in Jesus, Blessed Sleep."

Mrs. Victoria Evans and niece Miss Bertha Wooldridge, attended the funeral from this place. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Martin from Montvale.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker the cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me.

A Certain Cure for Croup, Used for Ten Years Without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Indiana merchant is enthusiastic, in his praise of Chamberlains Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chambe lain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough.
